ACCREDITATION
In support of improving patient care, The Robert Larner, MD College of Medicine at the University of Vermont is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

The University of Vermont designates this live activity for a maximum of 10.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

This program has been reviewed and is acceptable for up to 10.0 Nursing Contact Hours.

Work and learn alongside your peers to identify new ways of taking control of a fractious and disruptive healthcare system to make it work for you and your patients.
Challenge what’s accepted and do the unexpected.

So much happening in health care is out of our control. Rigid rules and outdated conventions coupled with increasing demands and new expectations have put providers, staff and hospitals in a pressure cooker. But what if – instead of seeing this as an unwinnable battle – you could peer over the horizon and glimpse a new way of working? What if you had the power to inspire and influence change that could release the pressure and create solutions that help patients, quiet the noise, and make sense of the chaos?

Join us in November to hear from national thought leaders who have defied convention in their own ways to spark change. We hope they open your mind to new and diverse paths toward better health care that strongly supports both patients and providers.

Challenge the status quo.
Put on your peacock suit.
