Subject: New AAMC Students and Residents Website is Live!

[This message was sent from an address outside the Larner College of Medicine. Please exercise caution when clicking links or opening attachments from this source.]

Dear Colleagues,

The new AAMC students and residents website is now live! Here are five things to know about our new site:

1. We gave the site a bit of a makeover. The students and residents website still has the same overall structure, but it now looks more like the AAMC's other websites. It is easier to navigate, remains mobile-friendly, and maintains the features and content our learners find most valuable.
2. The improved search function accesses all AAMC websites. Site visitors will be able to more easily find resources thanks to an improved search tool. And the new search function will continue to improve as we learn what topics and resources site visitors look for most.
3. Page banners will show only maintenance alerts and major news. Other important updates and announcements will now be located on the sidebar, along with frequently accessed features such as application log-in buttons, alerts, social media handles, and contact information.
4. Premeds and medical students helped with the new design. This redesign is the result of extensive user research and website data analysis.
5. Have questions about the new site? Please contact Angelique Johnson, Senior Director, Integrated Learner Services, at amjohnson@aamc.org.

This is just the first step! We will continue adding new features and enhancements to the site in the future, and we encourage you to visit this page for the latest updates.

Thank you,
AAMC Services Communications
