Subject: Call for medical student leaders

Attention medical students, faculty advisors, and SIG leaders!

Are you interested in joining a national network of your peers as a Medical Student Ambassador for CareerMD.com? We are looking for student leaders at your medical school to join our Student Advisor Board for the upcoming academic year.

As a Medical Student Ambassador for your school, you will have the opportunity to:

- Lead Medical Student Roundtables at networking events in your city
- Contribute articles and content to newsletters, social posts and print publications for medical students
- Recruit current residents and fellows to serve as mentors for medical students via the CareerMD Mentor Network
- Connect with faculty, gain leadership experience, make connections, and earn stipends and other benefits

We are CareerMD.com, the online peer-to-peer networking and career planning site for medical students, residents, fellows and physicians. Online since 1996, our site is a vast repository of searchable information about residency, fellowship, clerkship, philanthropic and funding opportunities for current and future physicians. In addition to our digital services, we organize and host more than 120 career development and networking events each year at teaching hospitals across the country.

Through our networking events, online virtual events, newsletters and Mentor Network, we connect thousands of current and future physicians to one another and to leaders in their specialties and areas of interest. As a Medical Student Ambassador, you will have opportunities to attend local events on behalf of your medical school, interview residents, fellows and program faculty for social media and online postings, and help build out the largest peer network of early career physicians in the country. You can also organize and host monthly happy hours for your classmates, sponsored by CareerMD.

As a medical student, YOU are the future of healthcare, and will shape the future practice and policy of medicine. CareerMD seeks to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas, to create connectedness within the national community of future physicians, and to provide a platform for the discussion of issues and concerns that will shape healthcare in the coming decades.

To apply as an Ambassador, please email me directly at chowell@CareerMD.com and include your CV or resume. We look forward to hearing from you!

Thank you,
