External Scholarship Resources

There are a wide variety of scholarship opportunities within this toolkit. Some examples of categories include: LGBQT, Ethnicity, First in family, Scholarships by state, Scholarships for Moms, and much more! This is a general scholarship search site for all students. It is very comprehensive, and we recommend you use multiple search words! www.careeronestop.org

Scholarships for Medical Students:
- Medical Scholarships

Among other resources, a consolidated list of some of the health professions specific opportunities can be found here that may be of interest.

Other Categories:
- Scholarships for Men
- Scholarships for Women
- Religious Scholarships
- African American Scholarships - Minority Scholarships
- Hispanic Scholarships - Minority Scholarships
- Graduate Degree Scholarships for Women & Grants for Minority Women in Education

NEW! Other Scholarships and DACA Opportunities:
- Graduate scholarships
- Graduate fellowships
- The Latino Medical Student Association with DACA and Undocumented Status

Please review the following for tips on how to recognize Scholarship Scams:

Examples of Potential Scams and Potentially Dishonest Organizations:

- They charge an amount for postage fees (the only postage you should pay is your own when mailing an application), other fees, requesting a credit card number, etc. (May be referred to as an application fee, guarantee fee, deposit, or tax). If the sources ask for money, do not submit your information. This is most likely a scam.
• False claims (guaranteed winner, you've won a scholarship [that you haven't applied to first], we do all the work).
• No privacy policy found, or their privacy policy clearly indicates they intend to share and/or sell your information.
• Ownership is by a company using the site to generate business leads.
• Unusual PII (Personally Identifiable Information) requests, such as social security numbers.
• Negative BBB (Better Business Bureau) or internet reviews.
• No contact information.

Other Things You Can Check:

• If they claim to be a non-profit, are they listed in GuideStar or IRS Publication 78?
• Are they a member of the National Scholarship Providers Association (NSPA)?