

JOHNS HOPKINS VISITING ELECTIVE PROGRAM FOR STUDENTS UNDERREPRESENTED IN PEDIATRICS

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Johns Hopkins Harriet Lane Pediatric Residency Training Program strongly values diversity and is thrilled to welcome students who are underrepresented in Pediatrics to apply for senior elective rotations in Pediatric Cardiology, Hematology, Infectious Disease or Oncology. We are providing a stipend of $2000 for up to six qualified students per academic year to help defray the cost of an away rotation. The stipend for students NOT paying for housing will be $500. We define the following groups as underrepresented: Black (African/African American), Latino/Hispanic (Mexican American, Cuban American, Puerto Rican, Central American, South American), Native American, and Native Hawaiian. Applications will be considered based on merit and availability. We will only consider applicants who wish to complete the elective between July and November of each academic year. We anticipate we may not be able to fund as many qualified applicants for this program as we would like and are actively looking for funding to expand this program in the future.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Final year of medical school.

Good standing at medical school.

Completion of core clerkship in Pediatrics.

Applying for residency position in Pediatrics or the combined Medicine/Pediatrics Program

Pursuing a medical degree at an LCME- accredited medical school.

If you are at Johns Hopkins for an elective NOT sponsored through this elective program, please let Carly Hyde \(chyde4@jhmi.edu\) know when you will be at Hopkins. We'd love to meet you!
