

From: LCOM Student Education Group <seg@med.uvm.edu>
Sent: Thursday, June 11, 2020 12:15 PM
To: UVMLarnerMed Class Of 2022
Subject: SEG - Clerkship Exam Resources

Hello Class of 2022,

We hope this email finds you safe and healthy! This email is being sent from a new email address, seg@med.uvm.edu. In the future, SEG hopes to communicate relevant class-wide information through this address.

As mentioned before, we are providing an updated guide on clerkship level resources. This guide provides an introduction to existing resources and passes along descriptions of those which students found most useful during each clerkship. Many students gain insight about different resources from the classes that came before them, as well as from fellow classmates in other flight groups who have already completed the rotations. We see SEG - Clerkship Exam Resources as an extension of that practice, and urge you to use whatever tools/methods feel best for you. This link should bring you to the guide on our SEG Commons page, but if you have any difficulties accessing it, please let us know.

This document is not produced by the Larner College of Medicine or the clerkship directors, but has been approved for distribution. This resource is based on the experiences of members of the Class of 2021, as well as SEG members from years prior.

We hope you find this SEG guide useful as you continue to navigate the remote cognitive clerkships and transition into the clinic!

Happy studying!

The UVMLarnerMed Medical Student Education Group \(SEG\)

(C/O 2022 SEG Reps – Kelly Chan, Maggie Carey, Megan Boyer, and Rachel Harrison)