Welcome to the Spring 2023 semester! The Graduate Writing Center is open for both in-person and online appointments.

Visit uvm.mywconline.net and choose among these options:

- Individual in-person (in the Graduate Writing Center suite on the Howe Library's ground floor.
- Individual and group online via Teams. For an individual online appointment, give your netid and at your appointment time go to Teams for your consultant's call. For a group appointment, provide the names and netids of all group members, so your consultant can set up a Teams invite for everyone.
- Two-part Review and Meet, either in-person or online. For longer or technical drafts of up to 20 pages, make one appointment, mark it "Review," and attach or link your draft. Ignore the reminder you will receive for this appointment; your consultant will spend this appointment getting familiar with your project. Also make a second appointment with the same consultant, and mark this one "Meet." Your consultant will meet with you for this appointment, ready to discuss your draft.
- Email Feedback Letter, for drafts up to 12 pages. If you cannot meet in real-time, you can make an appointment to receive a feedback letter from a consultant. Be sure to provide on the appointment form enough information about your draft's goals and audience, the stage of writing, and your chief concerns, so your consultant can provide appropriate and helpful feedback.
- Virtual Graduate Writing Retreat. Our virtual writing retreats will be Wednesdays, 3-5pm on MS Teams. Sign up via our regular scheduling site (uvm.mywconline.net).

The Graduate Writing Center's services are free to all UVM graduate students, and its peer consultants from across disciplines are trained to work with graduate students at all stages of writing and at all stages of their programs.
