Subject: [gsalist] University of New Mexico Dept of Orthopaedic Surgery Virtual Information Program

The UNM Department of Orthopaedic Surgery is offering a Virtual Information Program (VIP) to medical students interested in learning more about our residency and training in New Mexico. The VIP will provide students access to weekly conferences including Grand Rounds, subspecialty teaching and indications conferences, and resident didactics. In addition, students will have scheduled time to meet with members of the residency to explore nuances of the program. The VIP will also include structured teaching time with faculty each week to allow students the opportunity to explore the various subspecialties offered at UNM. Interested students may sign up through VSLO/VSAS and will then be given access to the offerings once approved by UNM and the Department of Orthopaedics. This program is for information and educational purposes only and is not offered for credit. Students choosing to participate in the UNM VIP are under no obligation to partake in all offerings and are encouraged to use this as an avenue to learn more about the UNM Orthopaedic Surgery Residency Program.

There is a link for the VIP at the bottom of this page:
